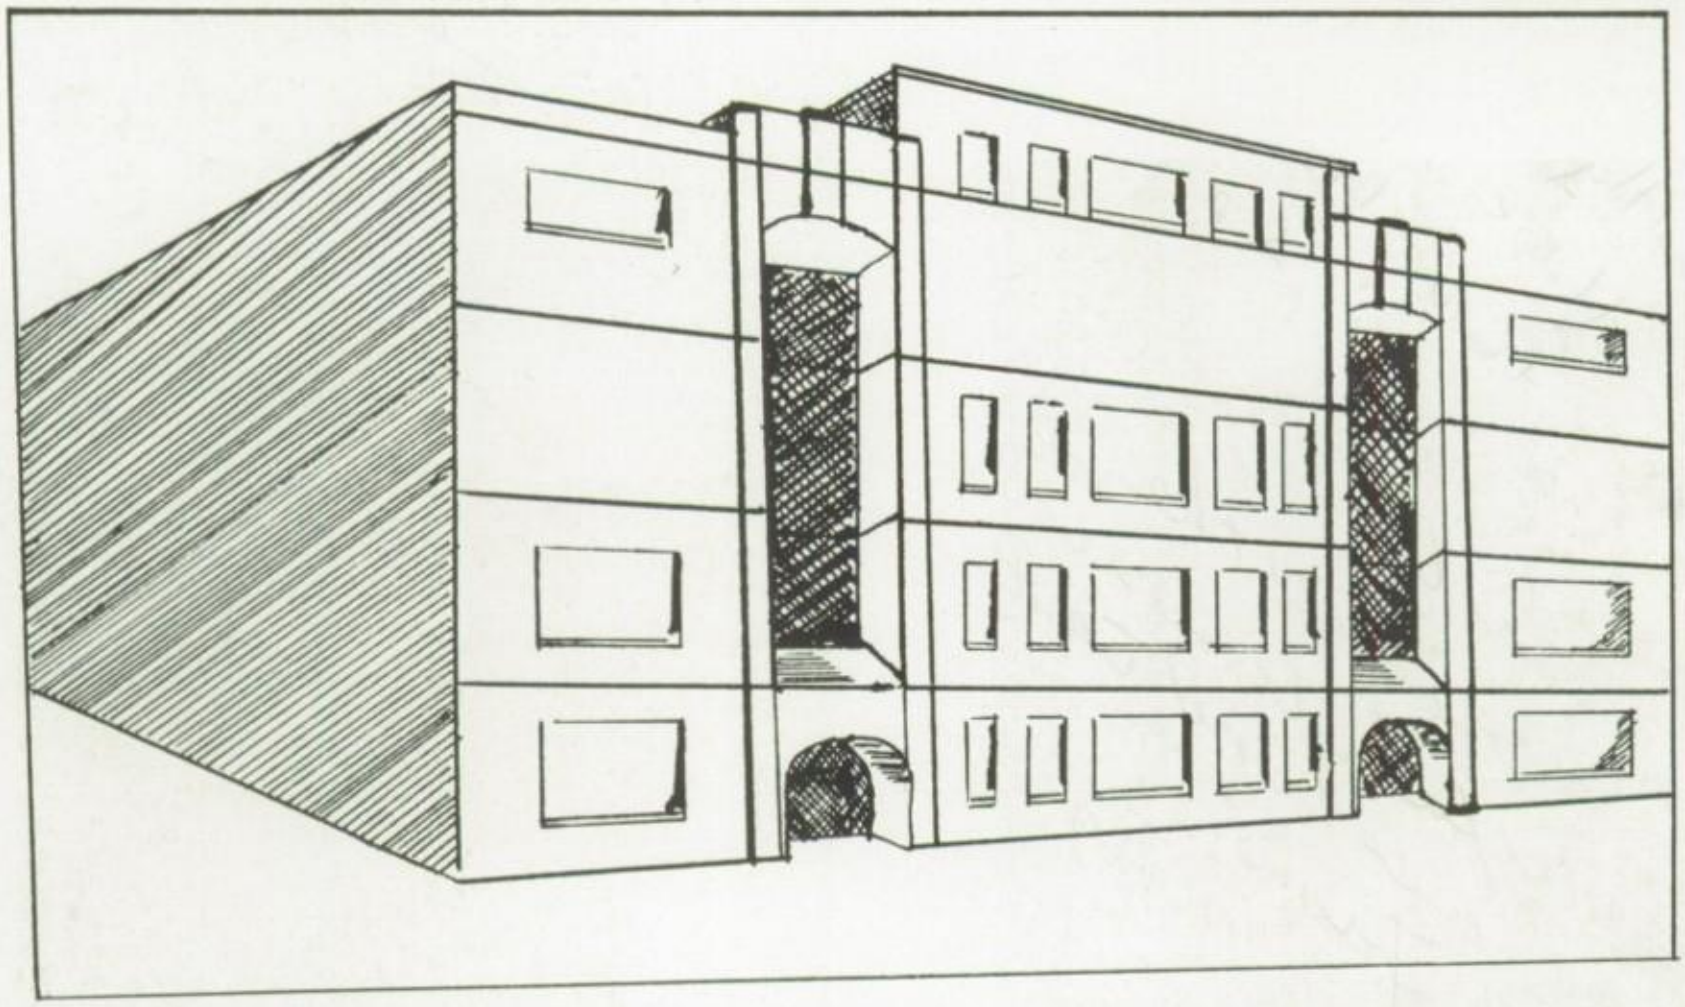
OIL CAN presents

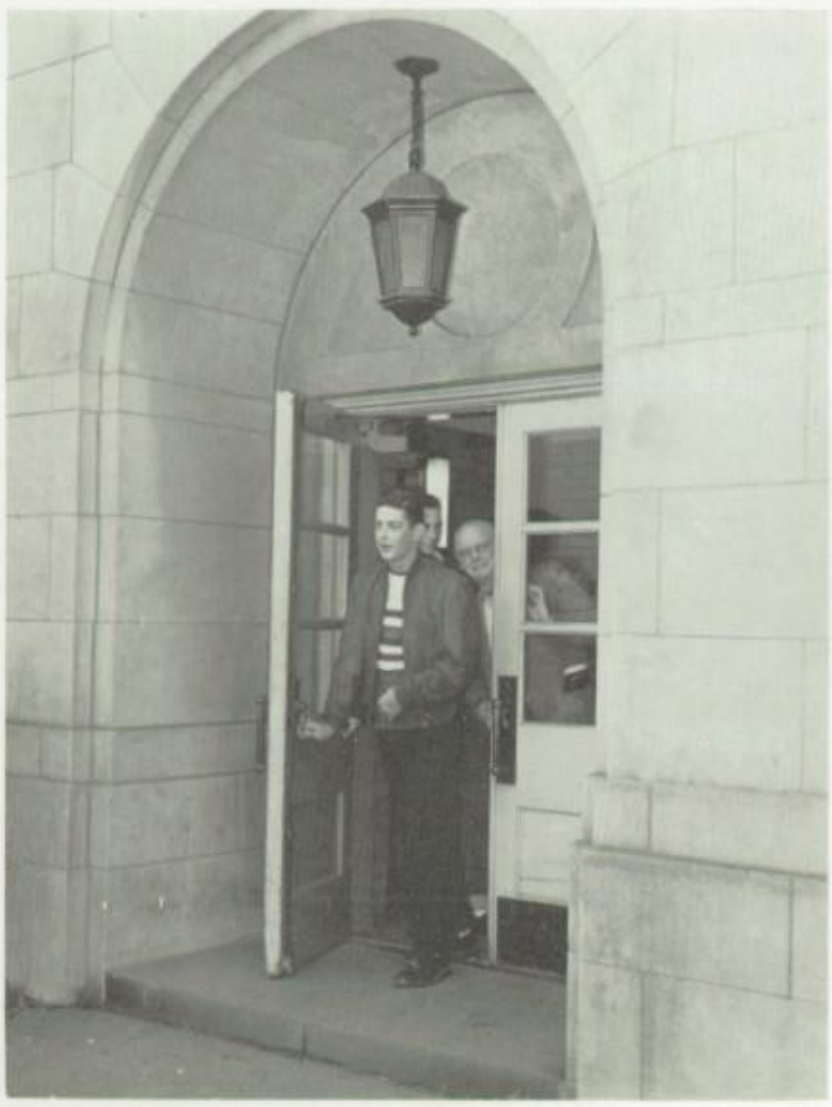
BELIEVE IT OR NOT

Senior High School
Oil City, Pennsylvania

This is Senior High,



Senior High School, Oil City, Pennsylvania, is the only school building which can be entered on any of its five floors from the ground level.



On the last day of school Mr. Hale watches Gordon Dick and Dana Martin leave the building, using a door located on the basement level.

As Bill Cook opens the first floor door for Sally Bankson, they both appear happy that it is fall and school time again.

Believe it or not.

"What a grand night for dancing," think these two senior lasses, Elizabeth Jack and Jane Thomas, as they gaze out from the second floor entrance.

A snowy December day finds Nancy Ross and Charles Samonsky at the third floor entrance ready to embark on another day.

This is Senior High! It is the only school building which can be entered on any floor from the ground level. This unusual fact has gained for Senior national recognition, and many residents of the community refer to the structure as the "believe it or not" building.

A few of Senior's students know this startling fact; but for those students who do not, here is the explanation.

Senior has eight entrances located on five levels, each floor having a ground entrance. Two entrances on Spring Street lead to the basement level; one entrance on Graff Street opens on the first floor. The second entrance on Graff Street, located at a higher point on the hill, makes it possible to enter, from the ground level, the auditorium which is located on the second floor. The balcony of the auditorium has exits which lead to a third floor entrance on Drake Alley. The fourth floor can be entered from a door located near the alley.

"Why was such an unusual building constructed," you may ask yourself. "Does it have any advantages?" The hill on which Senior is situated offers the ideal location for a school with multi-level entrances. Senior on a hill is practical and convenient. The building needs no fire escapes, because every floor has a ground entrance. If an emergency arises, the building can be easily and safely evacuated.

Now that you are familiar with Senior's unique construction you will be able to answer the question, "what does your school look like?" Simply say, "Believe it or not, we have ground entrances on every floor."

School begins.

Our Year in Review

Looking over their schedules for the year ahead, the seniors wondered how they would ever get through; but soon they found themselves enveloped with guidance appointments, assemblies, football games and the Harvest Ball.

The class was honored with a full house at its senior class play "Dino."

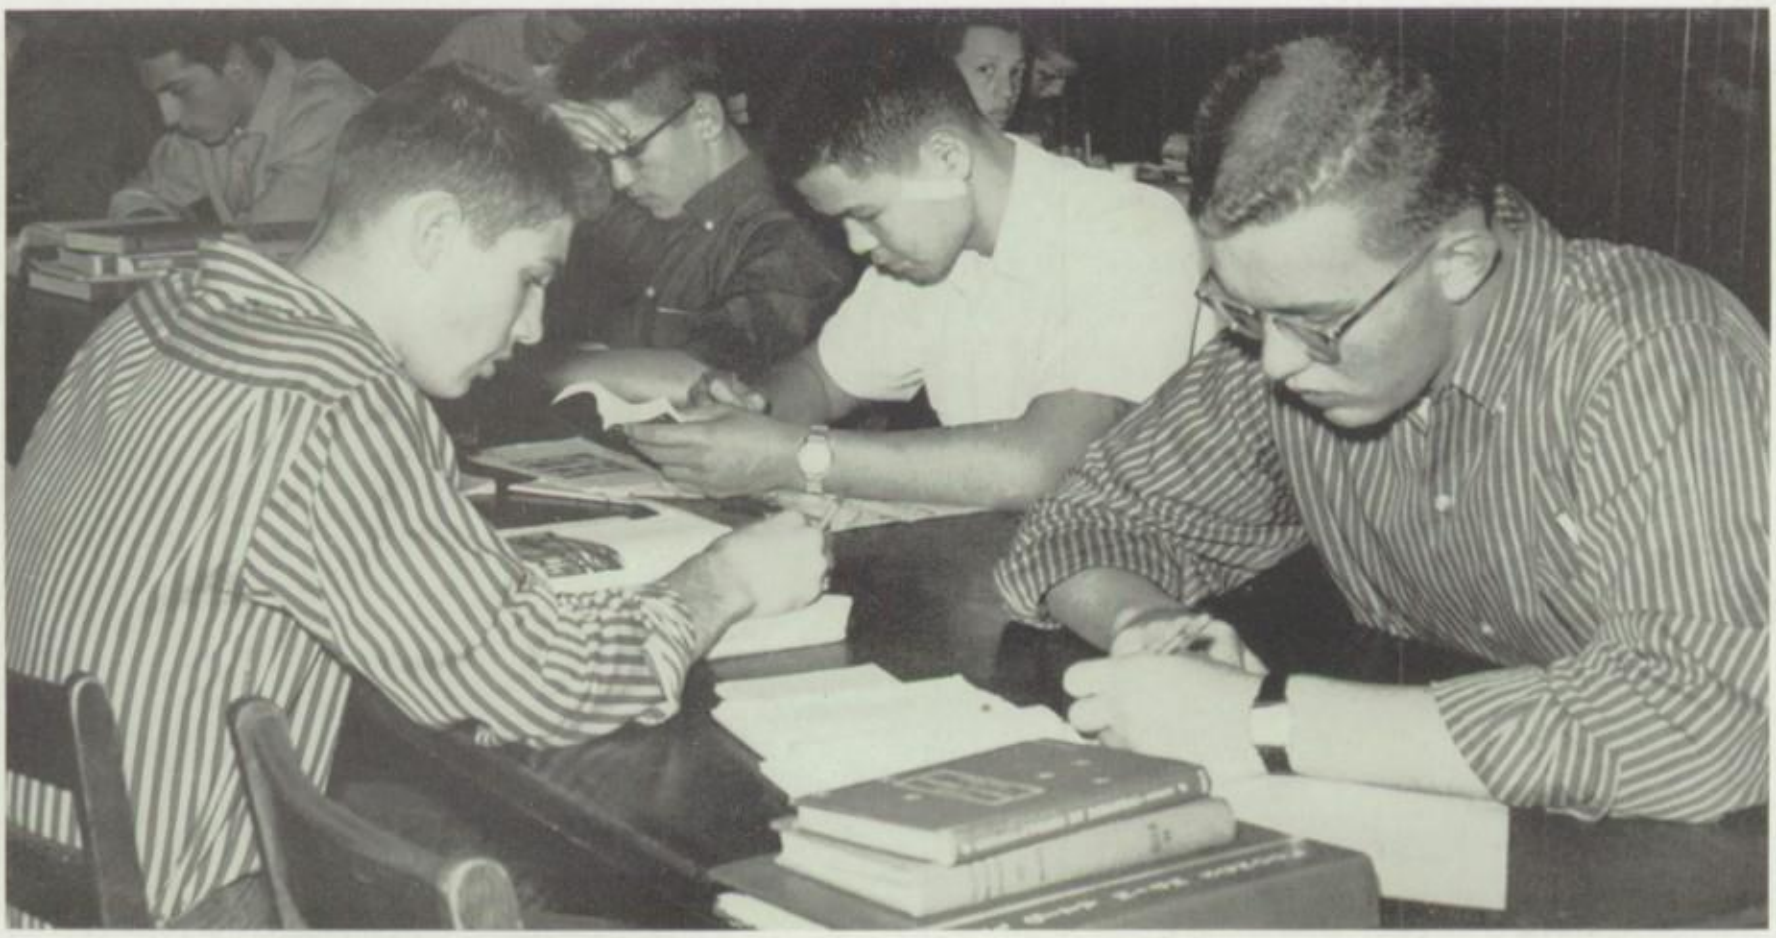
With school in full swing and elections over, the seniors faced the challenge of the annual Christmas card sale. Finally the Senior Hi News announced the long awaited Christmas vacation opened by the holiday cantata.

The first day of school finds students preparing duplicate copies of their schedules for the coming year. After the orderly filling in of spaces Geraldine Burneisen, Gary Holquist, Bob Flinchbaugh, Dick Beightol, Bill Dunkle, and Jackie Brown compare notes.

Students hard at work and play

A fall bouquet and a crown become Mary Ann Klinehamer. Robert Ward, an energetic football player, proceeds with the coronation of the football queen as members of the court intently watch the ceremony.

It is said that people are most remembered for what services they give. In this case Mr. Pringle, our student adviser, will long be remembered. Here Linda Hewitt is being carefully counseled on career plans.



Study hall is a welcomed time for students who just cannot seem to get the day's work done. Ben Buchanan, Dick Adams, Takao Yoneda, and James Whaley complete tomorrow's assignments.

Days pass; graduation nears.

Our Year in Review

In February the juniors completed the highest magazine sale in the school's history. Basketball games, wrestling, and G. A. A. activities took much of the extra-curricular time of the athletic enthusiasts; while the dramatists worked on the mystery play. The music groups presented the operetta, "The Fortune Teller." Soon the basketball queen and her court reigned over the April Showers dance.

Track and tennis season ushered in the final portion of the school year. Again the student council sponsored the spring fair, which provided enjoyment and a change of pace in the everyday school life. Swing Out, the senior banquet, and baccalaureate ceremonies paved the way to the final event of the senior year, graduation.

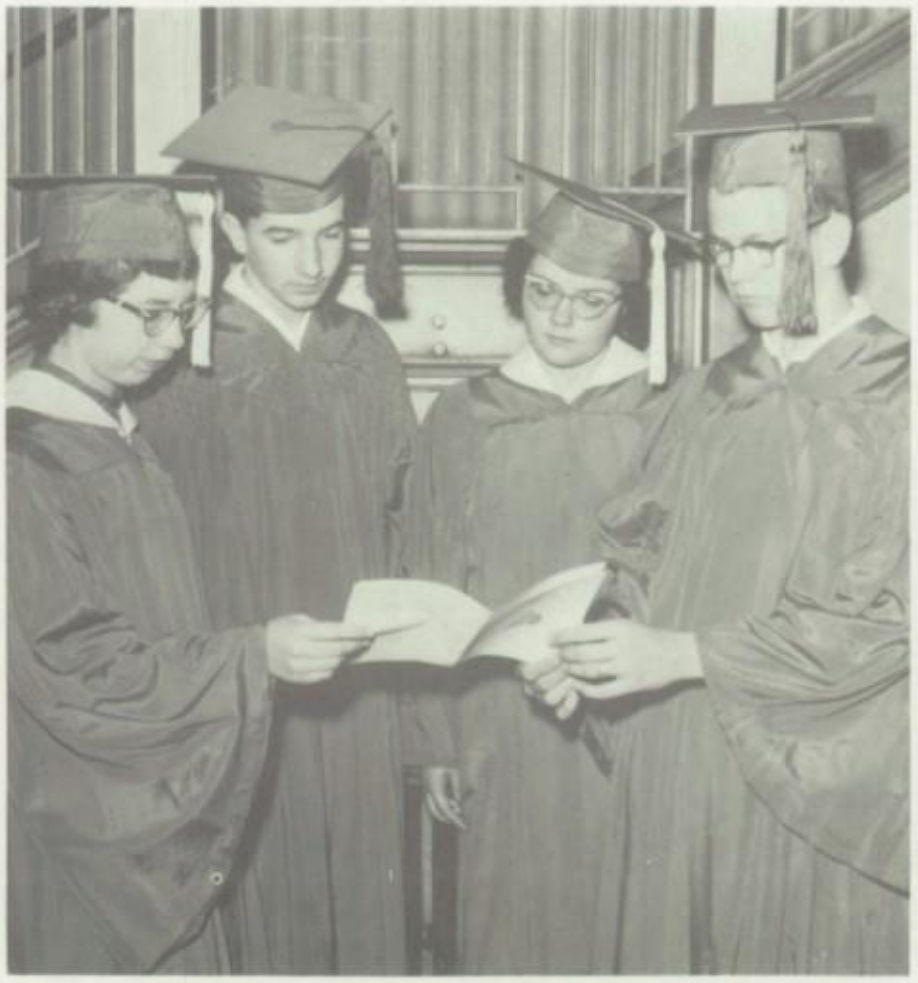
With the distribution of the Oil Can, the students recalled fond memories and wondered where the year had gone.

Boxes, boxes everywhere, under feet, filling shelves and desks; "Take them home and sell them" were familiar words. Christmas card campaign managers, Kent Keller and Mary Graham, try to balance boxes as well as books.

The starlit patio of a mountain lodge provided a romantic setting for the annual Harvest Ball.

A spirit of reverence prevails as members of the Girls' Choir open the Christmas program with lighted candles and a familiar carol.

Once each year golf pros, bricklayers, explorers and bums fill the halls of Senior. Ed Allen, Jim Reynolds, Ken Siembida, Patty Blauser, and Joan Orr take a breather during Old Clothes Day festivities.



A solemn ceremony climaxes years of preparation and study. Jean Crawford, Dan Brink, Gloria Gill, and Herman McCreary find their names in the graduation program.

Seniors, Gloria Gill and Joe Womer, begin research for source papers.

Foreword

Believe it or not . . . these words are often used to illustrate the unusual, the fantastic, the dynamic. Our busy life at Senior gave us little time to notice that our school was worthy of this praise.

Some time ago it was discovered that Senior had a unique characteristic. Built on an incline, Senior offers eight entrances situated on five levels. As we pass through these doors without a backward glance the fact that our school affords ground entrances on all floors seems relatively unnoticed. In reality, Seniorites, ours is the only school in the nation that can boast of this feature.

Searching for a way to unify our book, we found that our own doors held the key to our theme. Throughout our yearbook we have carried the thought "believe it or not" to symbolize Senior. Unbelievable facts concerned with school activities come to light and find their way to the pages of this annual. Our story has made the unusual the usual and provided for us a source of pride in our school.

Seniorites, when you receive your Oil Cans, we hope that you will look at old, familiar Senior in a new light.

Believe It Or Not

Senior's FACULTY and ADMINISTRATION total sixty-one. The teachers instruct in such varied courses as driver education, health, and woodworking. Recently, in view of the critical world situation, advanced courses in English, algebra, and chemistry have been added to the curriculum. Our faculty has accumulated 967½ years of teaching experience, 752 years in our own system and 215½ years in other school systems. Thus our teachers have taught an average of 16.68 years each—12.97 in Oil City and 3.73 in other districts.

During our careers we have received the patient and unselfish help of the faculty and administrators. Their devotion will long be remembered.

Mr. M. W. Hempfield
Retired Secretary Board of Education

"He profits most who serves best."

After thirty-one and a half years of service, our secretary of schools Mr. Hempfield, retired in December. Mr. Hempfield had served the school system since July 1, 1927, when he started to work as supply clerk. On January 1, 1936, he became secretary of schools, a position which he held for twenty-two years.

He stated that Oil City has a fine group of students, although he did not come into close contact with many of them.

Mr. Hempfield regretted to leave us; nevertheless, he was anxious to move to Florida where he planned to begin a new life. The retired secretary plans to spend his time fishing and growing citrus trees.

Administration

Dr. H. Virgil Grumbling

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Dr. Grumbling has successfully performed the task of providing Oil City students with an excellent educational program. For this and for his sincere interest in the welfare of his students, the Class of '59 extends its appreciation.

Mr. Carl H. Townsend

PRINCIPAL

Because of his understanding and assistance, Mr. Townsend has made our stay at Senior a very pleasant one. No matter how busy he was, our principal was always ready to offer friendly advice. The Class of 1959 takes this opportunity to thank him for his guidance.

Science

"Experience, the universal Mother of Scientists." (Cervantes)

Down through the ages, gifted men and women have struggled to solve the mysteries of the universe. In 1892, our school realized the need for greater scientific education, and a science course was then added to the classical studies. In the beginning stage nearly all of the classes were conducted by one teacher.

Today 393 of our high school students working in laboratories are discovering for themselves the truths of nature. Eight science courses are taught by our staff of seven instructors. Mr. Lloyd Bromley, head of our science department, received last summer a General Electric fellowship.

By instruction and guidance, our science department is ever striving toward its goal—to prepare young men and women to live in our modern scientific world.

Physics is best learned through experimentation. Fred Diven, John Hadley, Lois Clark, and Marion Michaels test wire for tensile strength.

Business

Students interested in the business field have found Senior High the best place to begin their climb upward. This year 490 students are enrolled in the thirteen business courses, designed to prepare young men and women to enter positions in local business. About 95% of our business graduates have been placed in positions before the end of the summer after graduation.

The six teachers in the department have had 17 years of actual business experience.

These facts and figures show that our business students easily meet the requirements found in Mathew Henry's Commentaries: "It is not fit the public trusts should be lodged in the hands of any, till they are first proved and found fit for the business they are to be entrusted with."

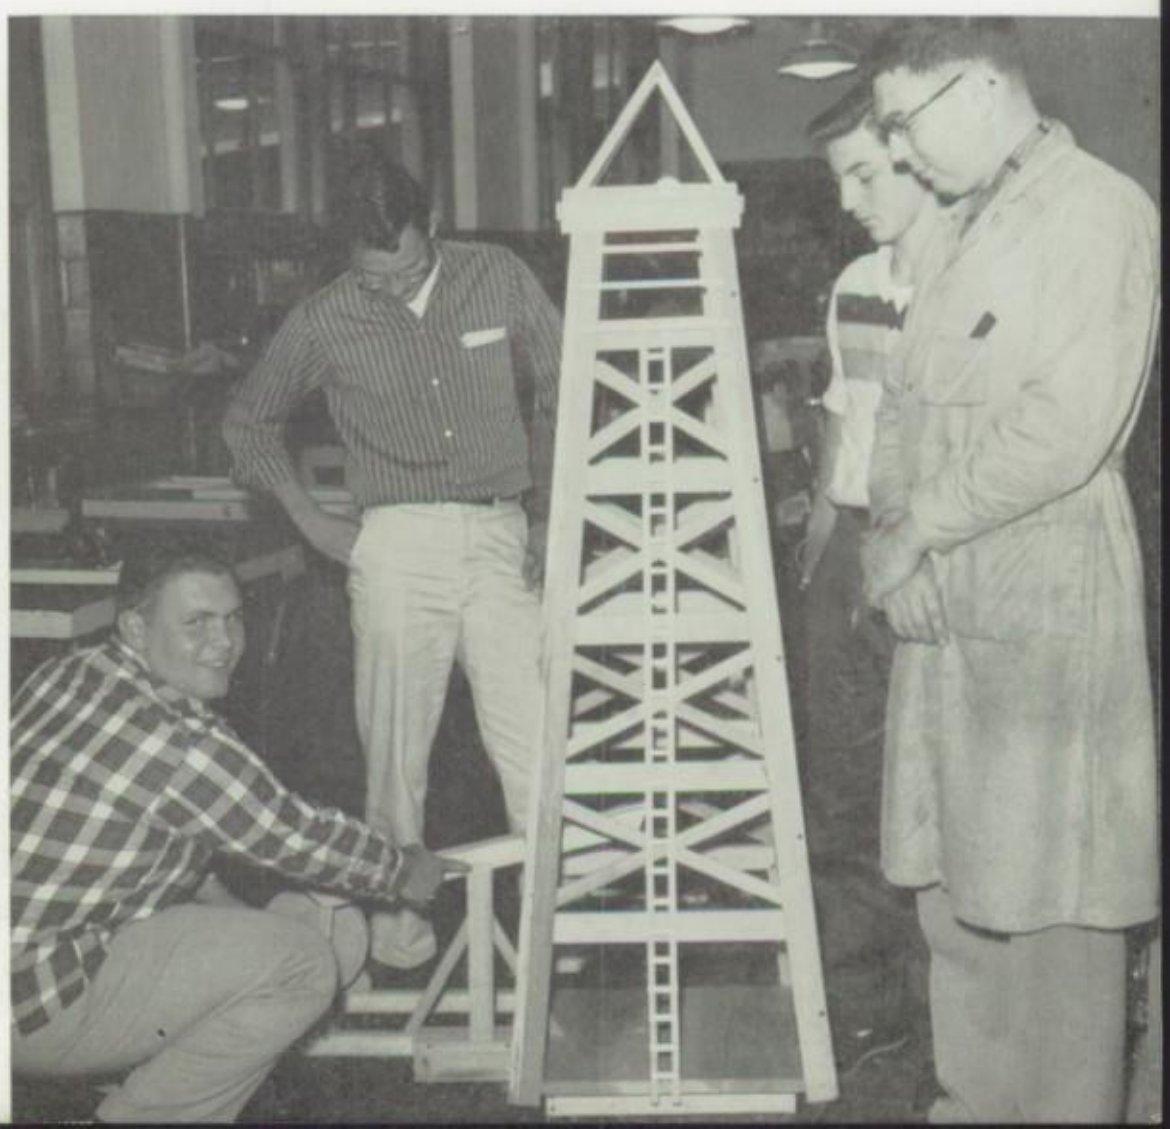
Vocational

"The skill of the polisher fetches out the colors." (Addison)

To help provide our country with a continuous supply of skilled craftsmen is the goal of our vocational shop department. Now twenty-one years old, the department is staffed by eight teachers.

The 125 boys presently enrolled in this department are taking: machine shop, auto mechanics, or petroleum refining and natural gas. At one time there were 140 students taking courses in these areas, showing the large capacity of the well-lighted, modernly equipped shops. It is interesting to note that the majority of boys are eligible for employment upon graduation, while a few go on to college or technical schools to train for jobs calling for engineering capacity.

The familiar Derrick—a symbol of our school, the city paper, and the vast oil industry is shown to Bob Wiltanger, Don Kozaczki, and Mr. Clark by Bill Huber, who chose this idea for his yearly project.



The homemaking department is comprised of many units. Here, directed by Mrs. Best, Mary Stubbs, Rosalie Porath, and Patsy Osten learn the fundamentals of child care.

Faculty

Homemaking

Our homemaking department believes that in today's society education for happy, effective, personal family and community living cannot be left to chance. Vocational and general home economics are offered. The curriculum includes the usual cooking and sewing instruction plus the following areas of learning: choice and care of home furnishings, home planning and general maintenance, safety in home and community, care of sick and aged, child care and guidance, personal appearance and grooming, consumer economics. "A community is like a ship; everyone ought to be prepared to take the helm." Our homemaking department is striving to prepare our girls to take their places in the communities of today.

Physical Education

Believe it or not—our girls in the physical education course participate in such sports as ping-pong and jumping rope.

Under the leadership of our capable instructors, volleyball and basketball tournments have been organized to stimulate competition in both the boys' and girls' gym classes. Because physical education is required of all students who wish to graduate, five teachers have the responsibility of educating the entire student body in this program.

One of the activities of the year is a co-ed volleyball game played by members of both boys' and girls' gym classes.

The purpose of our physical education department is to help the students keep physically fit.

"Spike it, Gloria!" shouts a team member as Miss Acker watches the score go up another notch during an after-school G. A. A. contest.

Believe It Or Not

Nine thousand seven hundred seventy-one students, representing eighty-one CLASSES, have been graduated from Senior High. Through the years these graduating classes have varied in size, the first class in 1878 containing sixteen members. In 1883, two students received diplomas, compared to the all time record of 323 students graduated in 1940.

In order to prepare students for future careers, the school offers a wide variety of subjects. This year the largest number of students participating in a single field of study is 746, all students being required to take four years of English. Comparatively, only nineteen students are enrolled in the industrial arts class.

Two hundred twenty-five members of this year's class (Senior's 82nd) are anxiously waiting to receive their sheepskins.

Senior officialdom, Joe Womer, treasurer; Mr. Allen, adviser; Kathy Graff, vice-president; Ralph Montgomery, president; and Gus Emanuele, secretary; organized committees for the senior banquet, the last activity of the year.

SENIORS planned a successful year.

"I like Oil City because its people are so friendly." Takao Yoneda, exchange student from Japan, expressed this sentiment to Carolyn Cubbon, our exchange student to Germany. Off and on for the past thirty-eight years it has been the custom for the senior class to select their outstanding classmates to fill various superlative roles. This year the Oil Can co-editors decided on the characteristics pictured on these two pages. These twelve boys and twelve girls were not chosen seriously, but all in the spirit of fun. Props and poses suitable for the different characteristics were used to add sparkle to the pictures.

Kathy and Ralph did not act as custodians, but they could always be seen lending a helping hand. Swing your partner? No, Lucy and Denny were practicing the Mexican Hat Rock. Marie caught Paul off guard with a brushful of paint. Senior has produced many good-looking pairs. For this year's, refer to the opposite page. We didn't have to think hard to discover who our top "thinkers" were. Jean and George filled the bill. Sparkling eyes and a smooth line put Susie and Terry in the "most flirtatious" limelight. One always could hear the cheery "hi" of Eileen and Dave. Amazed, Dick stated to Marylee, "What won't girls do for fashion!" In our little world Gus and Jack were chosen for their all around likeable qualities. Sue and Gale were holding hands, while we thought they were shy. Who has the larger muscle? Joyce and Bob had a hard time battling this one out. Can't you see Gloria as a lady executive and Herman as a secretary?

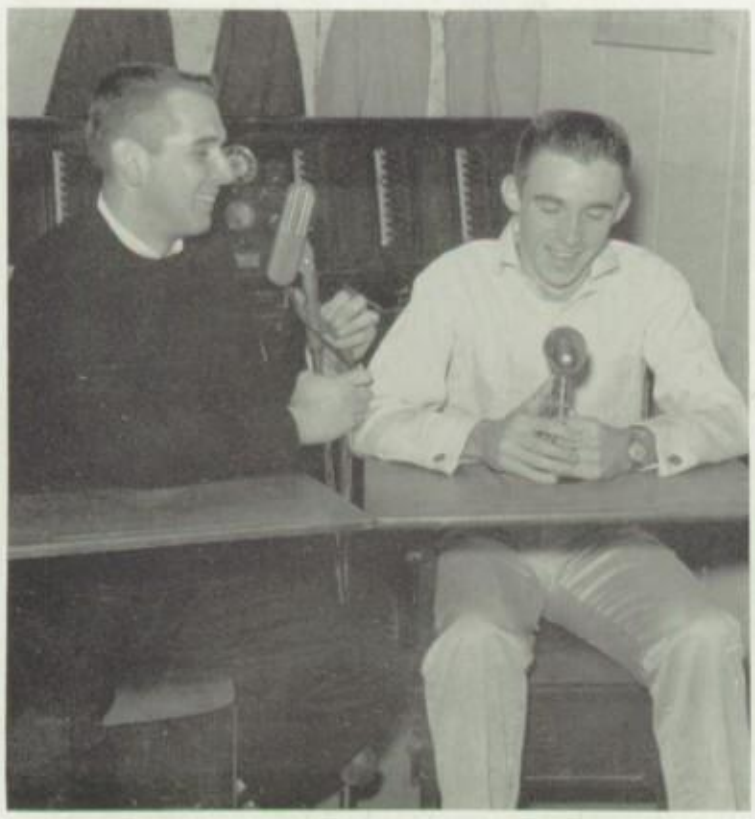
Many minute parts and yards of wire all fit into their designated places. "What if you have one left over?" asked Mr. Etzel, Radio Club adviser. Members, Jerry Kiehl, Jan Wydro, Joe Thomson, Dick Marshall, Darrell Newell, Mike Smith, Martin Sherlock, Joel Youkers, and Clarence Dechant did not answer the question.



At the sound of the three bongs, Arnold Mohnkern and Dave McLaughlin, P. A. announcers, greet us daily with announcements of importance.

Before taking the driving test, Sandy Smith and Susan Secor must pass an eye test, given by Mr. Houtz. This test is required of all junior driving students.

Believe It Or Not

Activities give Seniorites a chance to serve their school. These ACTIVITIES include sixteen clubs, two publications, and various music and dramatic groups. Forty-seven per cent of the students at Senior belong to at least one club, and twenty-two per cent of the students hold membership in more than one organization. One hundred ten students participate in speech activities.

Students and sponsors give generously of their time and energy to make the activity program successful. For example the three senior cheerleaders, during their term of service, have cheered at twenty-four football games, fifty-eight basketball games, and forty-eight pep meetings. The activity program provides opportunities for pupils to utilize their own initiative and assume responsibilities.

Swing Out Queen

SWING OUT QUEEN
Miss Augusta Emanuele

reigns supreme.

Beautiful gowns, the fragrance of colonial bouquets, suspense, and music were all a part of the twelfth annual Swing Out presented by the music department.

This year's program honored Queen Augusta Emanuele who, along with the members of her court, were elected by students of the junior and senior classes.

Mr. Marlowe Johnson of Thiel College in Greenville was the guest conductor.

Majorettes brightened half-time activities.

Janie Thomas and Kay Topping instructed, among other sophomore girls, Jane McFate and Leah Aull in the art of twirling.

Majorettes

Upon entering the auditorium the seventh period on Mondays, Wednesdays, or Fridays, we were certain to find our thirteen perky majorettes hard at work. Creating and learning snappy routines for football and basketball games and some pep meetings were time-consuming jobs, but the girls found time to present their yearly assembly, a show long to be remembered.

Janie Thomas and Kay Topping, co-head majorettes were kept busy teaching the twirlers routines for their various appearances and training sophomores to fill the empty boots left by the six graduating seniors. Selected for their ability, appearance, personality, and scholastic record, majorettes begin their career at football games in their junior year and receive emblems in the senior year.

Band

During the school year the Oil City band was active in many school functions. They provided football fans with a variety of entertaining half-time shows. In addition to playing for the Friday night half-time shows, they supplied lively music for the pep meetings on the mornings of home games. This year new band cheers were introduced in which both the band and the student body participated.

Following the football season, their practice time was devoted to producing the second annual band concert.

Life is not complete without music.

Music Club Council

The Music Club Council, made up of all presidents and secretaries of the choral and instrumental groups and headed by Mr. Runzo, was the planning committee for the complete music department. From these presidents a president of the council was elected and a secretary from the secretaries. They formulated all the policies of the department and coordinated its activities. This year the club sponsored an operetta, which was presented by the members of the music department, the annual Swing Out, and a Music Club Council dance.

ORGANISTS

Pit Orchestra

The string orchestra took an active part in many of the activities of the school. Rehearsals, which were held the sixth period each day of the week, prepared this group for the various evening programs that were presented by school organizations. String orchestra, joined by a few brass and woodwinds from the band, rehearsed for such entertainment as the senior class play, the annual mystery play, baccalaureate, and commencement. Every year a few members are selected to play in district events, the main event being Northwestern Pennsylvania District Orchestra. The string orchestra was ably directed by Mr. Puleo.

We express our moods through music.

Swing Band

Under the able direction of Mr. Puleo, the members of Swing Band played for various occasions such as basketball games and pep meetings.

Jim Ball, an eleventh grade student, capably filled the position as student manager. All of the members of Swing Band are selected from the school band, which is also directed by Mr. Puleo.

The Swing Band this year consisted of seventeen members.

Playing their instruments was not the only way that the band members contributed to school spirit, for they could be seen with the crowd at games, cheering lustily for the team.

Victor Herbert's operetta, The Fortune Teller, which takes place in the mythical kingdom of Livonia, is the story of romantic gypsy and royal life. Soloists Kay Kahle, Jim Ball, and Bob Johnston listen as Mr. Runzo runs through the score.

A Cappella

At the summit of our vocal groups is the A Cappella Choir, which is directed by Mr. Runzo and is composed of one hundred selected voices. A Cappella is unique in having a student government, effectively run by a twelve-member board, led this year by Bob Ward, Eileen Myers, and Kent Keller. Throughout the year the group gave various local and out-of-town performances. Highlights of this year's work were the Christmas cantata, the operetta, and the annual Swing Out.

GIRLS' ENSEMBLE

Girls' Ensemble

The Girls' Ensemble, under the direction of Mr. Runzo, consisted of sixteen girls chosen from the Girls' Choir and a cappella last spring. Since that time, the girls worked on special arrangements of music, which they presented as a separate unit when a cappella performed for school and community programs. The girls met each Tuesday as a club group.

Boys' Ensemble

Twenty-six boys selected from a cappella met with Mr. Runzo during the guidance period on Fridays whenever possible. Their work with special arrangements provided them with challenges; and, like the Girls' Ensemble, they performed as a separate unit when a cappella presented a program.

Girls' Choir

These girls, led by Mr. Runzo, worked hard to provide music for many fine programs during the year. The leaders of the group were: Ellen Goldberg, president; Carole Lindquist, secretary; with Betsy Cogswell and Helen Adams sharing the duties of librarian.

Girls' Chorus

Composed entirely of sopohomores, Girls' Chorus, directed by Mr. Puleo, served as a stepping stone to a cappella. The girls chose as their officers: Jane McFate, president; Leah Aull, secretary; and Sandy Allen, librarian.

Student Council

The Student Council led our student body capably this year. Suggestions for school improvement were discussed and taken up with the administration. The Pep Club, sponsored by the Student Council, provided buses for all out-of-town football games. The annual mystery play raised money for the exchange student fund and the organ fund, both projects of the Council.

Ushers were furnished by this group for all school and community programs. The annual Spring Fair was an outstanding highlight of their year. The organization was directed by officers—Jack Osman, president; Eileen Myers, vice-president; Barbara Ossoff, secretary; Linda Rea, treasurer; and Mr. Bromley, faculty adviser.

In Student Council home quarters, a question arises "I wonder who contributed this?" laughs Barb, as officers—Barb Ossoff, Eileen Myers, Jack Osman, and Linda Rea look for constructive suggestions. Mr. Bromley appears amused.

Jean Crawford, Susie Ruby, Gloria Gill, and Kathy Graff light candles representing character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Dave McLaughlin, president of the Society holds the master candle.

National Honor Society

For many years fifteen per cent of a senior class have been honored by the faculty by being selected for membership in the National Honor Society. The students who receive this great honor are chosen on the basis of their character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

The main project of the Society is managing the refreshment stand at the home basketball games. This is done to raise money for a scholarship which is given each year to a worthy student in the society, or if none qualify, to an outstanding student who is not a member of the society.

"One picture is worth a thousand words."

Camera Club

Camera Club's fifteen members worked to improve their photography techniques. During the year the members developed portrait photography skills. The officers of the club were: Dick Marshall, president; Dan Winger, vice-president; Sandra Rembold, secretary; and John Dick, treasurer.

BULLETIN BOARD STAFF

Thanks to the efforts of Carole Lindquist and Susan Grumbling, the library bulletin board is always attractive and informative.

Library Staff

These girls, recommended for membership by teachers while they are in the ninth grade, serve in their sophomore, junior, and senior years. Other than working at the desk, they dust the 7,000 books, arrange 100 magazines, write over-due slips, and organize the circulation file.

In addition to these many duties, the girls help borrowers select from a file of 200 records their favorite discs. It is evident that the library offers valuable experience for staff members.

This efficient library, with an average daily circulation of 150 books, is directed by Miss Hoy and her assistant Miss Elder.

EUCLID CLUB

Euclid Club

Any senior advanced math student was invited to become a member of this group of aspiring mathematicians. Euclid, under the supervision of Mrs. Duink met once a month.

Learning to use the slide rule was the first project tackled by the industrious members. During the remaining meetings, each student presented a program of a mathematical nature.

Joe Womer, having been chosen president, presided over the meetings while Nancy King served as vice-president and Barbara Kimes, as secretary.

Varsity O

Under the capable leadership of Mr. Wells, the Varsity O Club met once a month to discuss the problems which arose in school sports. In order to gain membership, a student, boy or girl, must attain a varsity letter in some sport or in cheerleading. Many of the students in the Varsity O Club have Varsity O sweaters or jackets which the club helped pay for by selling pencils to fellow students. The members also helped out with various duties during the games in which they did not participate.

Seated: Guy Goodwill, George Haylett, William Russell, Mr. Hale, Cary Mitchell, James Glaspy. Standing: William Roberts, Guy McClintock, Richard Turk, James Mohnkern, Charles Delp, Larry Spence.

Vocational Board

Consisting of twelve members, the Vocational Board planned social affairs for the boys in the vocational course. The board also heard severe disciplinary cases and, if necessary, handed out punishment. Highlights of the social season were a dance held in conjunction with the Future Business Leaders of America Club and the annual picnic. Three board members are chosen by Mr. Hale, the sponsor, and nine are elected by their fellow classmates. The officers: George Haylett, president; Cary Mitchell, vice-president; and William Russell, secretary-treasurer.

Vocational Oil And Gas Club

Highlighting the 1958-59 club activities was the twentieth anniversary banquet of the Oil and Gas Shop, which was held at the Club House. Other activities included a field trip to Pithole, a tour of the Pennzoil refinery, and a weiner roast.

The purpose of the club is to acquaint students with the many excellent positions offered by the oil and gas industries. The club's officers were: Clifford Hower, geologist; Jerry DeWoody, production superintendent; Kenneth Kelley, drilling superintendent; Melvin McClintock, refinery engineer; Lee Asel, chief chemist; and James Mohnkern, master mechanic.

Officers, Bill Huber and Judy Burchfield and adviser, Mr. Stover, guide Hunting and Fishing Club's members in their many activities.

Hunting and Fishing

The largest single organization in the school, and one of the largest hunting and fishing clubs in the state, headed by the adviser, Mr. Stover, this club served as a means of conveying information of hunting and fishing methods, laws and safety precautions to its members. Instruction was given to the members on the handling and caring for outdoor equipment and cooking of fish and game. The officers—Bill Huber, president; George Haylett, vice-president; Carole Hays, secretary; and Judy Burchfield, treasurer—worked on interesting programs for their club.

Junior Red Cross

Guided by Miss Stanley, Mrs. Caldwell, and Mr. Webster, Junior Red Cross strove to serve others through tray-favor and lap-board projects and a record-high membership campaign. Officers were Jean Crawford, Mary Ann Culbertson, Audean Dahle, and Fred Diven.

Chemistry Club

This year's Chemistry Club was divided into two groups, both under the capable guidance of Mr. Bromley. The advanced group, composed of outstanding students, worked on qualitative analysis of metallic salts, radiation measurement, and crystal growth. This group also listened to speakers and visited industry.

Latin Club

The members of Latin Club endeavored to better understand Roman culture. In addition to working Latin crossword puzzles, students donned Roman togas or joined in an enlightening discussion of the famous games of ancient Rome. The club was guided by Mrs. Haney. Officers were Jerry Anderson, president; Barbara McClintic, vice-president; Sandy Allen, secretary; Linda Rea, program chairman.

Debate Team

Presided over by Dennis McCarthy and advised by Mr. Lewis, the debate club worked on the resolution: That the best points of the Russian education system should be adopted by the United States. This year the team debated at Meadville, Jamestown, Erie Academy, and Butler.

French Club

French Club members, with Miss Beryl Eddy as adviser, elected Jean Crawford as president and Tom Jamison as secretary-treasurer.

Among their many activities, these club members participated in skits, showed movies, and had fun playing educational games designed to increase their French vocabulary.

This year, French Club meetings were held in the daytime, making is possible for all the members to be present.

Spanish Club

Spanish I Club members elected Sandra Lee Smith as their president and Carlotta Wattsjer as their secretary-treasurer. In Spanish II Club, Dave McLaughlin was president and Helen Bean was secretary-treasurer.

Informal meetings were held in the evenings for both clubs, movies were shown, vocabulary games were played, or short skits were acted out by the members.

Miss Beryl Eddy is adviser for Spanish Club.

Future Teachers of America

Members of the John Dewey Club of the Future Teachers of America became informed of the opportunities and enrichment of the teaching profession.

Under the guidance of Mr. Pringle and Mr. Buckham, the club heard speakers tell of education and colleges and saw movies about teaching.

F. T. A. members served as guides for the annual visitors' day. A number of members had the opportunity to attend teachers' conferences and F. T. A. conventions.

The group was led by officers Jean Crawford, Susan Grumbling, Nancy King, and Sally Blyler.

Future Homemakers of America

F. H. A. aims to promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking and to foster the development of creative leadership in home and community life. The motto "Forward New Horizons," was carried out by the membership with the aid of the following officers: Virginia Barr, president; Linda Young, vice-president; Sandra Rembold, secretary; and Mary Ann Dykins, treasurer.

Members of the club and advisers, Miss Barclay and Mrs. Best attended a sub-regional meeting at Stoneboro.

Senior girls were eligible to compete in the search for the Homemaker of Tomorrow contest, sponsored by Betty Crocker. Kay Topping was this year's winner.

Future Business Leaders Of America

Approximately fifty of Senior's business students worked to develop competent, aggressive leadership and to create more interest and understanding in the intelligent choice of business occupations.

The club's main project was to establish a follow-up program of former business students. Other activities included sponsoring a dance after the Franklin-Oil City basketball game and entering various business contests at the state F. B. L. A. convention. The club was directed by Connie Schiffer, president; Jackie Kluck, vice-president; Julie Jez, secretary; and Geraldine Burneisen, treasurer. Miss Muse and Miss Lamb sponsored the group.

Time out for clowning. Julie Jez, Mary Ann Pochran, Jackie Kluck, Rose Homer, and Carolyn Homer "display" blue and white shakers, which they made and sold at the football games.

News Club

The News Club aids the journalism class in writing for the paper. Meeting bi-monthly, the club was sponsored by Miss Ruth Kaufman; Barbara DeLucia was president of the group. Along with writing features for special issues such as Christmas and Valentine's Day, this club toured the Derrick Publishing Plant as one of their activities. As in the past the club participated in the Student Council fair.

Senior Hi News

Financed by the Oil City School Board and business advertisements, the Senior Hi News is now offered free of charge to all students. Since its beginning in 1931, the school paper has related school news and happenings to students. This year it widened its scope to include news of interest to the parents. Miss Kaufman and Joyce Kluck, managing editor, were in charge of eleven students.

Senior Class Play

The senior class play, "Dino", was a fast-moving story of a teen-age boy who had been recently released from a correctional institution. His difficulties in adjusting to his environment and his problems of gaining acceptance from the gang at the neighborhood settlement house made an exciting and successful play. This play, which was presented on November 14, was directed by Mr. Lewis.

Approximately a thousand tickets were sold for the play. The student production staff included: Irene Stanley, student director; Joan Brozeski and Ellen Goldberg, prompters; Georgia Ripko and Janice Cyphert, property managers; Ruth Schleider, business manager; and Richard Beightol and Dan Wilson, sound effects. Make up staff under the supervision of Mr. Townley included: Judy Waite, chairman, Neva Gray, Sandra Horn, Marilyn Karns, Janet Miller, Donna Rea, and Susan Secor.

A stubborn "Dino", Charles Breene, refused help from his probation officer, Bill Mochel, and the settlement house psychologist, Jack Osman.

Shirley, an introvert, played by Sue Williams, listened intently to the party plans made by Jackie and Miss Haines, played by Barbara Kimes, and Nancy McCrea.

"In Case of Murder"

Pest Orville, played by John Velier, turns into a hero as he discovers that the old fortune teller, Lady Opal, is really the director of the Institute. Allen Levine keeps the imposter under control.

Lady Opal, played by Bob Johnston, secures the aid of the Spink sisters, portrayed by Sherry Goodall, Eileen Boland, and Karen Schott, in stuffing his unconscious victim, Marshall Beatty, into a closet.

The annual mystery play, "In Case of Murder," was presented on February 20, 1959.

Thirteen students, under the direction of Mr. Lewis, did an excellent job of keeping the audience in suspense. The play was sponsored by the Student Council, and the proceeds were used for the exchange student fund.

Believe It Or Not

Students at Senior have an opportunity to participate in a variety of ATHLETICS. Basketball, wrestling, football, track, tennis, volleyball, and ping pong are offered.

One hundred boys have participated in an intramural volleyball tournament, while thirty per cent of Senior's girls take part in a varied intramural program. This year the girls' teams have been named for twenty-three varieties of cakes, and signs such as marble cake vs. orange cake can be seen throughout the building. Eighteen per cent of the boys participate in interscholastic athletics.

In the varied athletic program, major emphasis is given to those games, sports, or activities which have carry over value to adult life.

HARVEST BALL

On November 26, the annual Harvest Ball was held. At this dance, decorated as a hunting lodge, the football queen was crowned. This year the queen was selected by the senior class from the seven girls that the senior football players had chosen as the court. Many couples enjoyed dancing to the orchestra of Tommy Owens, while others enjoyed the refreshments provided by the Harvest Ball committee. Faculty members and students alike forgot work and participated in the fun.

Lisa Lawrence, Ben Buchanan, Ed Allen, and Judy Craig could be found by the waterfall at the Harvest Ball.

Football

When the Oilers began their workouts under new Head Coach Younker, there were great hopes for a winning season; but inexperience and lack of size proved fatal to the spirited Oilers. A rebuilding program was then begun to prevent a future problem of inexperience. Many sophomores and juniors showed promise in the final games of the season, leaving the onlookers under the impression that there are better things to come.

rules over "Enchantment of Spring."

On April 3, sprinkling cans, hanging gardens, rock gardens, rainbows, and wrought iron furniture transformed the auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. into a delightful spring scene, and provided the setting for the annual dance in honor of the basketball queen and her court.

The seven girls comprising the court were nominated by members of the varsity basketball team; the senior class elected the queen from these nominees. The coronation of the queen climaxed the evening's festivities.

Juniors—Judy Craig, Kay Kahle, Jim Jones and Sandy Hipple—admire the newly bought crown which is to be used annually for the basketball queen's coronation.

Track

According to the latest figures released by Mr. Wallace, head track coach, this year's turnout of ninety-eight boys was one of the largest Senior has seen.

Somewhat hindered by the return of only four lettermen, the coaches found it necessary to place the accent on building for the future. Track aims to develop all year round athletes.

Tennis

This year's tennis team is planning six matches, two each with Meadville, Erie Strong Vincent, and Erie Academy. The squad consists of two returning lettermen, team captain, Gale Wurster, and junior John Keil. Other participants are Larry Tingue, Bill Manby, John Dabrowski, Charles Grinnen, Bob Lendrum, Bob Fry, and Sam Krug, squad manager.

Last year's squad, the first to play tennis as a varsity sport, won two matches, lost one, and tied three.

"The Beat" and "Matt Dillon" . . . favorite cheers

Cheerleaders

Each August twelve girls from the senior, junior, and sophomore classes can be seen practicing diligently. Just who are these girls and what are they practicing for? They are the twelve girls who were chosen the previous spring to be the cheerleaders of O. C. H. S. for the sports season. These girls lead the students in the school cheers and can be seen at all the football and basketball games and, of course, the pep meetings.

This year the cheerleaders again went to the Glenwood Cheerleading Clinic where they learned more cheering techniques. Among the other cheers that they learned, two novelty cheers were introduced, "Matt Dillon" and "The Beat."

At the schools they visit, our cheerleaders act as representatives of O.C.H.S., and most people agree that they always represent us well.

Pam Magdovitz, Susie Ruby, Gus Emanuele, Eileen Myers, Nancy Culbertson, and Judy Myers, members of the varsity squad, pause to receive instructions from Miss Acker.

BUSINESS, LITERARY AND TYPING

is to have done it." (Emerson)

Co-operation, loyalty, industry, these were the characteristics displayed by the fifty-four senior members of the 1959 Oil Can staff. To insure its literary success, Elizabeth Jack and Jane Thomas began planning the book early in April, 1958. Ruth Schleider, business manager, carefully laid the financial structure, and in September the entire staff began to work.

As the year progressed, layout, deadline, proof, crop, mount, and bleed became familiar terms. Exhausted but happy, editors and adviser, Miss Bell, put the book to bed on the Ides of March.

PHOTOGRAPHY AND CIRCULATION

The staff of the 1959 Oil Can extends its thanks and appreciation to the following:

Mr. S. J. Petulla and Mr. S. J. Petulla, Jr., Petulla and Son ..... Photography

Mr. Joe DeOrio, Canton Engraving Company ..... Engravings

Mr. C. D. Ridgway, Kurtz Bros. ..... Printing

The administration and faculty of Senior High and South Side Junior High

Our advertisers and patrons.

"Let's close up shop," sigh co-editors Elizabeth Jack and Jane Thomas.

As we close the dummies and eagerly await the May 15th delivery date, we have time to collect our thoughts and realize how much time and energy was put into the yearbook.

We sincerely thank all our editors and staffs, without whose help the book could not have been done. We are grateful to Miss Bell, a constant guide and friend.

We, the class of 1959, will go separate ways and with us will go our Oil Cans to keep the bonds of high school days.
